THE FIRST TECHNOLOGICAL ACCELERATION EVENT EVER IS BEING HELD IN MONTREAL!

Montreal, February 8, 2017 – the very first technological acceleration event, Shake IT Montréal, is taking place on Wednesday April 19, 2017, at New City Gas. This event which is mainly for high-level managers and executives aims to offer tools for understanding current issues in the digital world to make better strategic decision-making simpler. It is a unique opportunity to attend conferences and share information with the top players from here and elsewhere who offer innovative solutions needed for a major corporate transformation, regardless of participants' sector or activity. With both its content and format, this event upsets popular and conventional beliefs about IT to inspire and get participants to think outside the box!

National and international personalities and speakers will be there for close and privileged networking opportunities. The program will include conferences, workshops and plenaries and will be available very soon. Space is limited to 300 persons, find out how to register at: shakeitmontreal.com

The initiator

The event is an initiative from Linkbynet, an international company whose business is to guarantee the availability, performance and security of Web applications, e-business and information systems. This commitment is based on extensive expertise in the areas of IT outsourcing and consulting. Find out more at: www.linkbynet.com

The event is also held with the support of Montréal International and French Tech Montréal.
